

LONDON'S BEST THEATRE SHOWS

We are privileged in London to be home to some of the finest theatre and musical productions in the world. Moments' walk or drive from The Wellesley; you will discover the famous West End, which is where you will find theatre upon theatre, showcasing something for all tastes.

A wonderful occasion for Londoners and visitors alike, West End productions typically run six days a week, with Monday being a rest day. It is not unusual for a show to have two productions daily, especially on weekend and bank holidays, when there would be a matinee and regular viewing. Also, you will regularly find famous screen actors appearing on a London stage.

Theatre is the most popular guest request after Restaurants at the Concierge desk. So it is important that we keep up to date with the wide variety of shows available. Here, we summarise our highly recommended shows to watch during your time in London. We hope you enjoy reading about the shows and we look forward to assisting in reserving you seats for them!

Well known in the West End due largely to the vast amount of advertising around the Capital, The Book Of Mormon is based around a mismatched pair of missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, who are dispatched to spread the word of God in a not to glamorous village in Uganda. From the creators of comedy show South Park, you can expect loud laughs and fantastic choreography.
